MANY STUDENTS ARE BEHIND IN STUDIES

If a student at the University of Utah be deficient in even one study he is reported as doing unsatisfactory work, and this fact partly accounts for the report that at the end of November 50 per cent of all the students at the school and 75 per cent of those registered in the school of mines are so posted.

This condition has created some concern among members of the faculty and a process is now in course of action to discover wherein the fault lies. Instructors have inquired of their students how much time they spend in preparation of each of their lessons. According to college regulations all over the United States, it is held that in order to get credit for one hour of work a student should occupy two hours in preparing for each hour of recitation.

The result of the inquiry was the discovery of the fact that the average time spent in preparation was less than one hour, accounting for the large percentage of unsatisfactory work.

It is the expectation of the faculty that a large majority of those now deficient will make up this deficiency before the end of the present semester, and that matters will be adjusted as satisfactorily as heretofore. It was not stated yesterday what action would be taken by the faculty to redress the standing of the students.

LOPEZ HOLDS UP BINGHAM MINER

Desperate Bandit Seen Near Where He Killed Deputy Hulse.

Bingham, Dec. 8.—William Karos, a Greek miner, was held up by Raphael Lopez, the outlaw, near the back of the Andy tunnel about 2 o'clock this afternoon. Lopez took three candles, the Greek's pipe and a can of tobacco away from him and, cursing him viciously, ordered him to go home and keep his mouth shut or he would kill him.

As a result of the Greek's story, upon which he was searchingly questioned tonight all of the leaders in the man hunt are absolutely convinced beyond all question that the daring desperado is still alive and at the present time very near the place where he shot Hulse and Manderlich. Acting on that theory the lower side of the Andy incline the only means of escape to the lower levels, is being bulkheaded tonight, and the York and the Podere tunnels are being bulkheaded above. This, if the Greek's story is true, will confine Lopez at last to about five miles of workings, the Andy and Minnie tunnels and the stopes leading from them.

Will Shoot on Sight.

Although the next method of action has not been definitely decided upon a plan is on foot to have a number of thoroughly reliable men dress up as miners, put revolvers in their pockets and enter the mine tomorrow. They will go to work as if they were miners and when they have lunch buckets with them. It is believed that Lopez is getting very hungry and that the sight of the buckets will draw him out. The "miners" have orders to shoot him on sight.

S. S. Jones, the man who has been guiding the posse of searchers through the mine, offered a plan tonight which Sheriff Smith is also considering. Jones says that there are only three places in the territory in which Lopez is now restricted where he can get drinking water. Jones proposes to get twelve volunteers to work in posses of six each. He would have two men guard each watering place, lying near them without lights. Jones estimates that Lopez would have to get water inside of three days or go insane from thirst. When he approached a watering place the men in the dark could shoot him. Jones says two of the water holes are on the Minnie level and the third on the Andy.

Two Alternatives.

The two other alternatives are more smudging or starvation. It is not believed that the smudging would be effective, judging from past experiences. On the other hand the starvation method would take about three weeks, perhaps, it is estimated. Then it would be somewhat uncertain because no one knows the extent, if any, of Lopez' food supply. One of the four systems will probably be adopted tomorrow.

Unquestionably the most interesting story in connection with the underground hunt was that of Karos, told through an interpreter last night. When Karos finished his story and underwent a severe cross-examination without wavering in the slightest, and was convinced of his sincerity and truthfulness. Added strength is given by the fact that Karos refuses to re-enter the mine, declaring that he is afraid. It was he who told of seeing Lopez a week ago Saturday a few hours before and very near the spot where the latest tragedy occurred.

Here is Karos' story: I was working with my partner, Jim. I don't know his last name, but I know where he lives and I think I can take you to him. He is a Greek boy and lives in Upper Bingham. We were working on the face of the rock at the end of the Andy tunnel about 2000 feet back from the portal. We had loaded a car of ore and I started to push it out toward the Andy incline to the hoist. I had gone about 400 feet when somebody behind me said: "Hello, Bill."

I turned around and saw Raphael Lopez. I could see him very plainly, as if I had a candle in my hat. He poked his rifle against me and said: "Give me lunch bucket."

I said: "Foreman told me to leave lunch bucket in blacksmith shop."

He said: "Give me candle." I had three in the side pocket of my overalls and I gave them to him.

He said: "Give me matches." I shook my head. I had no matches.

I was smoking pipe. He said: "Give me pipe and tobacco." I gave him my pipe and can of tobacco.

He said: "Now you get out of here and go home. And don't tell anybody about this or I'll kill you."

I started to push my car away. As I turned around I saw him right behind me go up into No. 5 stope. Then I pushed my car to the incline where the guards were and waited for Jim. When Jim came, pushing his car of ore, I said to him:

"Mexican held me up. Took my pipe and tobacco and candles. He told me he kill me if I say. I'm going home. I'm going out to the shop and get my lunch bucket and go home."

Jim said: "He won't bother you if you stay."

I said: "I'm going to get my lunch bucket and go home, anyway. You better come along, too, Jim. He will get you if you stay."

Jim said: "I'm going to stay. You can suit yourself."

I said: "I'm going home." So I went out and got my lunch bucket and met Sam Rogers, the shift boss.

Sam said: "Where are you going, Bill?"

I said I was going home, and he asked me why. I told him Mexican told me not to tell why. Then he asked me some more questions, so I told him my story and then went home.

Lopez was very weak. He was shaking all over. He had a stiff black beard. It sticks out all over his face. His cheeks are sunk in. His eyes are very big. He wore a cap. I said: "I'm going home." So I went out and got my lunch bucket and met Sam Rogers, the shift boss.
